Partner Matthew M. Munderloh represents individuals and businesses in Nebraska and Illinois across a broad range of legal matters, including complex civil and criminal litigation, business and real estate transactions, and estate planning and administration. He has over two decades of experience representing clients before state and federal trial and appellate courts.

He also serves as municipal counsel for multiple Nebraska cities and villages, providing guidance on governance, land use, ordinances, and public policy. His practice further includes select federal civil rights and white-collar defense cases, as well as government relations and political accountability matters.

In recognition of his service to the profession, Matt received the Nebraska State Bar Association's George H. Turner Award and has been named a Fellow of both the Nebraska State Bar Foundation and the American Bar Foundation. He earned his Juris Doctor, with High Distinction, from the University of Nebraska College of Law, and his Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, Summa Cum Laude, from Creighton University.
